Natalie Toplass

"My paintings are concerned with the relentless force of nature, in whatever form that may be. The positivism of this creates calm and a sense of introspection that is a comfort to discover in such troubled times".

Natalie aims to convey the feelings and sense of pleasure she feels while being surrounded by nature, even the simplest of things stirs her emotions. She wants the viewer to have an experience that encompasses sensations beyond that of image itself. Therefore, the scale of the work is important. By enlarging the scale, the nature of the work is intensified and enables the viewer to become surrounded by the beauty or whimsy of the subject.

Her work has recently been on display in Tokyo, Singapore, London, New York and Australia. Her work can be viewed at: www.natalietoplass.com
